Zebra MotionWorks™ takes productivity to new heights.

Get a competitive edge with Zebra MotionWorks location solutions. MotionWorks tracks all the assets, goods and people critical to your enterprise and, more importantly, provides actionable insights gleaned from that quantifiable data. Sight leads to insight. Insight leads to foresight. This gives you the ability to become more nimble, more responsive, more accurate and more productive.

Cultivating all this information starts with Savanna, Zebra's location data collection and support platform. Savanna is at the heart of what makes Zebra location solutions valuable to your business: it drives competitive advantage by turning your big location data into actionable intelligence, to optimally mobilize action at the edge.

With nearly 20 years of innovation in connected edge technologies, we are the location solutions experts. From automatically sensing inventory location to streamlining production processes, Zebra delivers both intelligence and insights. As the go-to for a number of Fortune 500 companies, we can provide solutions for your enterprise as well.

VISIBILITY THAT GIVES YOU FORESIGHT.

Stay connected. Stay in control. With Zebra's end-to-end solutions.

Zebra MotionWorks provides expertise to build and implement end-to-end location solutions that not only automatically sense the location of your assets and inventory, help improve the safety of your people and streamline your production line, but also allow you to ramp up productivity, boost efficiency and grow your business. By delineating that data to arm your enterprise with actionable insights so you can optimize your business at the performance edge.

We have the hardware to capture data, including Zebra's many sensing, tagging and mobility technologies, and utilize third-party technologies as well.

Zebra's Savanna Location Engine captures the location data and, using proven algorithms and rules engines, it derives actionable information and business context from the data gathered and provides a common set of outputs to share with applications that need this data.

Success in any intelligent edge solution requires a knowledgeable set of professional services to truly be successful. Zebra MotionWorks is no exception. Zebra provides a set of Location Solution-specific professional capabilities as part of its Signature Services portfolio. With these, you can be confident that the unique services necessary for the successful business outcome of your location-based solution are available when you need them.

Seeing all the facets of this field. And, yours.

For location solutions in the field of sports, Zebra MotionWorks Sport is a proven winner as well. Enabling a trove of data that provides real-time insights, Zebra's player- and ball-tracking technology is a legitimate game-changer. It is revolutionizing how staffs evaluate players, transforming the way coaches strategize and game plan, enhancing player health and safety, and elevating the fan experience.

As the Official On-Field Player Tracking Provider of the National Football League, we track every player, for every second, for every game of the entire NFL season (including the playoffs). In addition, we track every ball carried, kicked and thrown. This provides coaches, scouts, strength and conditioning personnel and more with invaluable information: the kind that impacts game day decisions—and leads to wins. And if we can help NFL teams win, we can help your enterprise succeed as well.

Zebra MotionWorks Sport Player Tracking System

MotionWorks collects real-time location data that captures the speed and acceleration of every player and every play on every inch of the field, and feeds that data to the NFL's application.

Zebra MotionWorks Sport for NFL

MotionWorks Sport deploys RFID tagged footballs for every game during the NFL season enabling the collection of real-time location, speed, and rotation data for the footballs.
